Artist's Statement:

My artwork is representational in style. I strive to recreate, with oil on canvas, the beauty that nature has to offer. The constant changing environment, the beauty of wildlife, even the human face is so varied, different and fascinating. Whenever possible, I prefer to paint from life, because you can fully experience the subject, take in the true colors and see far more details than a photo could ever provide. My favorite landscape is to go into remote areas of Florida and capture the scene before it is gone. I have learned to appreciate more of what Florida has to offer in the last five years painting en "plein air" than I did the 20 years previously.
