

Why Adopt a Senior Pet?

There are many reasons to adopt a wonderful senior pet. Here are just a few:

Lifestyle Match

Senior pets fit busy lifestyles better. They require less exercise and stimulation that younger animals do, which works well for people with busy lifestyle or who work longer hours. But all animals requires lots of love so don't skimp there ☺

Senior pets are also great for those with less-busy lifestyles since no one can appreciate quietly curling up on the couch for some TV time and a nap more than a senior pet! Need a calm, gentle companion? A senior pet is for you!

Meeting Expectations

What you see is what you get. There are no surprises with mature pets. They have already formed their personalities and are fully grown, so you know you're getting the pet you're expecting.

Fitting with Family

Senior pets and children are often a good match, as puppies and kittens are often very playful and can sometimes be more than children can handle. Unlike older pets, puppies and kittens are prone to play-nipping and scratching as they work their way to finding their behavior boundaries. Senior pets may need gentle reminders to behave themselves, but will generally need less disciplining.

Ready for the Routine

Most senior pets have had some obedience training, walked on a leash, ridden in a car and generally been around humans and their routines. This makes adapting to a new environment a little bit easier since it's not all new to them.

Interested in Eternal Gratitude?

Senior pets who have been given a chance at happiness will repay you with love and loyalty unlike you've ever seen. People who have adopted a senior pet say that once you've looked into an senior pet's eyes after giving it a home, you'll never forget it.

Isn't it time you opened your heart to the wonders of loving a senior pet?
