This resource directory provides a summary of the larger nonprofit and government resources frequently accessed by Central Florida's elders and their caregivers. The local helpline organizations listed on page 3 can provide a comprehensive list of community resources.

Community Resources for Elders is distributed by Orange County's Elder Ambassadors. The Elder Ambassador initiative is a FREE outreach program designed to increase awareness of elder services and opportunities in Central Florida. The primary component of this initiative involves educating volunteers about local elder services and programs, so they can help raise awareness of local resources that are available to Central Florida residents.

Information and Referral Services

Information and referral organizations are great places to begin your journey to find help and assistance. Information and referral organizations provide callers with contact information for organizations that may be able to help. Phone calls are answered by trained “information and referral” specialists. (Please note: Information and referral organizations usually do not provide direct services.)

TIPS

- Write down your questions before you call.
- Consider purchasing a notebook or folder to keep all the information together in one place.
- Have a pen and paper handy to write down information.
- Ask the specialist if they have other ideas on how you might address your need.

Elder Support Services

Florida Department of Elder Affairs and Area Agencies on Aging

The federal government, through the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Administration on Aging, works in partnership with a national network of 57 State Units on Aging and 655 Area Agencies on Aging to assist in planning programs for the elderly. Each Area Agency on Aging is managed at the local level and is responsible for selecting the services and providers that assist elders within each county. Area Agencies on Aging are funded with federal, state and local resources. In Florida, the State Unit on Aging is the Department of Elder Affairs. The Senior Resource Alliance is the Area Agency on Aging for the Central Florida region, which covers Orange, Seminole, Osceola and Brevard counties.

Programs With NO Eligibility Criteria

The Department of Elder Affairs offers several support services that investigate, advocate and/or educate on behalf of Florida's elders. These programs are open to all elders and their caregivers.

Elder Support Services

Programs WITH Eligibility Criteria

The Department of Elder Affairs and the Area Agencies on Aging provide support programs to seniors ages 60 and over who meet certain eligibility criteria, including maximum income or asset level and challenges with Activities of Daily Living and/or challenges with Instrumental Activities of Daily Living.

“Activities of Daily Living” (ADLs)

- Personal hygiene – bathing, grooming and oral care
- Dressing – ability to make appropriate clothing decisions and dress oneself
- Eating – ability to feed oneself (though not necessarily prepare food)
- Maintaining continence – both the mental and physical ability to use a restroom
- Transferring – moving oneself from seated to standing and getting in and out of bed

Instrumental Activities of Daily Living” (IADLs)

- Basic communication skills – such as using regular phone, cell phone, email or internet
- Transportation – either by driving oneself, arranging rides or ability to use public transportation
- Meal preparation – meal planning, preparation, storage and ability to safely use kitchen equipment
- Shopping – ability to make appropriate food and clothing purchase decisions
- Housework – ability to do laundry, wash dishes and maintain a hygienic home
- Managing medications – taking accurate dosages at appropriate times, managing refills and avoiding medication conflicts
- Managing personal finances – maintaining budgets, writing checks, paying bills and avoiding scams

TIPS

- Have a general idea of your income and assets prior to calling.
- If there is a waitlist for services, ask when the waitlist might open again – or if there are other programs that might help in the interim.

Alzheimer's Disease and Other Dementias

Dementia is a brain disorder that seriously affects a person's memory and other mental abilities to carry out daily living. There are more than 70 types of dementia, with Alzheimer's disease being the most common form of dementia. Many forms of dementia, such as Alzheimer's disease, are progressive, degenerative disorders that attack the brain's nerve cells or neurons, resulting in memory loss, impaired thinking and language skills and behavioral changes. Other neurodegenerative types of dementia include frontotemporal disorders and Lewy body dementia.

Currently, there are no cures for these progressive neurodegenerative disorders. However, other types of dementia can be halted or even reversed with treatment. In rare cases, treatable infectious disorders can cause dementia.

Numerous Health Conditions Can Mimic or Cause Dementia

Urinary tract infections * delirium * depression * vitamin B12 deficiency * toxic reactions to drugs * hydrocephalus (water on the brain) * tumors * subdural hematomas (blood clots) * thyroid disease * alcoholism * substance abuse * sleep apnea * Lyme disease * stress or anxiety * stroke * head injury * infection (around the brain)

TIPS

- Seminars and support groups can help families better understand the disease and how to best care for people with dementia.
- Agencies can connect you with providers and health professionals that support people with dementia.

Agency	Description	Contact Info
Alzheimer's Association	The Central and North Florida Chapter serves 31 counties with education and support, as well as raises funds for research. This nonprofit is dedicated to enhancing care, providing support for all affected and reducing the risk of dementia through the promotion of brain health.	800-272-3900 www.alz.org/cnfl
Alzheimer's and Dementia Resource Center	Provides caregivers with the educational resources, practical guidance and emotional support they need to care for their loved ones suffering from any form of dementia and – equally important – themselves. Manages the Florida State Brain Bank Research Program in 22 counties.	407-843-1910 www.adrccares.org

Hospital-Based Diagnostic Programs

Florida Hospital and Orlando Health both operate assessment centers for older adults experiencing cognitive decline or multiple chronic health conditions. These in-depth diagnostic evaluations employ multi-disciplinary teams—including physicians and social workers, to assess, educate, refer and help structure care plans for patients in collaboration with their primary care physician.

TIPS

- Ask in-advance what you need to do to prepare for the assessment, including what information you should bring with you.
- A family member, friend or caregiver should accompany you, as it is helpful to have another person who can listen and take notes.
- Share your story of what has worked for you – and what has not.
- These assessments are often covered by insurance. Ask if your insurance covers the assessment prior to your appointment.

Agency	Description	Contact Info

Hospice End-Of-Life

Hospice provides supportive care for people facing life-limiting illnesses who no longer want to pursue a cure for their illness. Supportive care is provided to the person and the person's loved ones by the hospice team. For the patient, the focus is on palliative care or providing the patient with relief from the symptoms, pain and the stress of a serious illness. The hospice team generally consists of a physician, nurse, social worker, chaplain, home health aide, bereavement counselor and volunteer. Hospice services are usually covered under Medicare, Medicaid and/or private insurance. In Florida, for the purpose of hospice care, terminal illness is defined as a life expectancy of six months or less. The patient or health care surrogate can elect to discontinue hospice services at any time.

Hospices are licensed and surveyed by the State of Florida. To see a current list of licensed providers, visit www.floridahealthfinder.gov and go to "hospice" under the "compare" header. This database is searchable by county. To learn more about the concept of hospice, when to consider hospice services and the types of services provided, please contact the Florida Hospice and Palliative Care Association at 800-282-6560 or visit www.floridahospices.org.

Residential and Housing Resources

Affordable Housing

TIPS

- The senior housing apartment complexes available through the U.S. Housing and Urban Development, commonly referred to as “HUD”, are independently owned and managed. Many of these senior “congregate” housing complexes have long waitlists for apartments. Individuals interested in living in these affordable housing complexes should consider adding their names to the waitlists at several apartment complexes.
- There are several different types of HUD programs that fund senior congregate housing complexes. Each of these HUD programs has different eligibility requirements; therefore, it is important to ask each facility about their income and asset requirements.

Agency	Description	Contact Info
U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development Subsidized HUD Housing for the Elderly	HUD is the federal program that provides information and subsidized assistance on housing. The HUD website provides information on all HUD programs. It also provides information for older adults interested in aging in place (i.e., in their own home). HUD also has multifamily units for the elderly. The age requirement for most senior congregate housing units receiving HUD funds is 62 and over. Some units were built under a different HUD program and have an age requirement of 55 and over. Additional eligibility requirements exist.	800-225-5342 www.hud.gov – search for “information for senior citizens”
Florida Housing Search	This housing locator service enables users to search and locate available housing that best fits their individual needs. Helpful tools and tenant resources are also online. The website is supported by a tool-free call center.	877-428-8844 www.floridahousingsearch.org

Other Types of Residential Communities

- Senior Apartment Complexes – Private apartment communities that provide limited communal services such as activity programs, transportation services and evening meals for residents. Owners of these housing complexes usually rent only to individuals age 55 and older.
- Continuing Care Retirement Communities – Private home communities that offer active seniors a variety of resources in which to socialize and enjoy their golden years. This option allows elders the opportunity to purchase services, amenities and future medical care, at the same time they buy their home in the community. Continuing care retirement communities offer housing options from independent to assistive to nursing care. The assisted living and nursing home portions of these communities are licensed and surveyed by the State of Florida.
- Assisted Living Facilities – Group apartment communities that provide full-time living arrangements and offer seniors assistance with non-medical aspects of daily living. Often referred to as “ALFs”, basic services include (but are not limited to): housing and nutritional meals; help with the activities of daily living such as bathing, dressing, eating, walking, physical transfer, giving medications or helping residents give themselves medications; arrange for health care services; provide or arrange for transportation to health care services; health monitoring; respite care; and social activities. ALFs are licensed and surveyed by the State of Florida.
- Adult Family Care Homes – Adult family care homes provide full-time, family-type living in a private home for up to five elderly persons or adults with a disabilities or health issues, who are not related to the owner. The owner lives in the same house as the residents. Basic services include (but are not limited to): housing and nutritional meals; helping with the activities of daily living; arranging for health care services; providing or arranging for transportation to health care services; health monitoring; and social activities. Adult family care homes are licensed and surveyed by the State of Florida.
- Nursing Homes – Long-term care facilities that provide 24-hour medical care, personal care, housekeeping and rehabilitative services to seniors who are suffering from chronic illnesses, recovering after major surgery or are physically frail. Nursing homes, sometimes called skilled nursing facilities, are freestanding, which means they are not part of a hospital. Nursing homes are licensed and surveyed by the State of Florida. If certain criteria are met, Medicare pays for a limited number of days in a rehabilitation facility, which is often a wing within a skilled nursing facility. Long term care in a skilled nursing facility is not covered under Medicare, but is typically covered under Medicaid if eligibility criteria are met.

The Florida Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA) website contains a list of licensed assisted living facilities, adult family homes and nursing homes. Visit www.floridahealthfinder.gov and:

- Go to the “locate” option, then select “facilities or providers.”
- This database is searchable by county.
- A list of all the licensed facilities will be generated.

Transportation

LYNX is the public transportation provider for Orange, Osceola and Seminole counties. This fixed route bus system is fully ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) accessible. LYNX, which is the Central Florida Regional Transportation Authority, also provides shared ride door-to-door services through ACCESS LYNX. These “paratransit” trips do not follow fixed routes or timetable, rather this system picks people up and drives them to their destination.

TIPS

- A few nonprofit agencies offer limited transportation to their clients – ask.
- Some private, for-profit homemaker and companion agencies provide transportation for their clients.

NOTE

- Medicaid recipients under a Medicaid Managed Medical Assistance (MMA) plan must contact their provider for information on the medical transportation trip benefits covered under their individual plan. If you are a Medicaid recipient in a specialty plan, you can also call a Choice Counselor in the Central Florida “Area 7” at 877-711-3662 or email area7medicaidhelp@ahca.myflorida.com.

Agency	Description	Contact Info

Elder Support Services

Who's Who in the For-Profit Network of Services

- Aging Life Care Professional – A health care professional, typically a nurse or social worker, who arranges, monitors or coordinates long-term care services. A care manager may also assess a patient's needs and develop a plan of care, subject to approval by the patient's physician. Aging Life Care Professionals are not a licensed profession in Florida; however, many providers elect to get certified on the national level. For more information, visit the National Aging Life Care Association at www.aginglifecare.org.
- Home Health Agency – A home health agency provides services to patients in private homes, assisted living facilities and adult family homes. Some of the services include nursing care; physical, occupational, respiratory and speech therapy; home health aides; homemaker and companions; and medical equipment and supplies. Along with services in the home, an agency can also provide staffing services in nursing homes and hospitals. Home health agencies are licensed and surveyed by the State of Florida.

If it is appropriate, a physician may write a prescription for home health services. These costs are typically covered under Medicare for a designated time period, but not indefinitely. Home health care can also be paid for by the client or family member and this is referred to as "private duty home care."

- Homemaker and Companion Services – These companies provide housekeeping, prepare and serve meals, help with shopping, routine household chores, companionship in the client's home, and can take the client to appointments and other outings. By law, homemaker and companions cannot dispense medications, nor can they provide hands-on personal care such as help with bathing or toileting. Homemaker and companion agencies are registered by the State of Florida. However, individuals who work on their own, with no other employees are not required to be registered. For a current list of licensed providers, visit www.floridahealthfinder.gov. Refer to "How to Use Florida Health Finder" below for instructions on to access this information.
- Nurse Registry – A nurse registry acts as employment agency between an individual patient and nurses, nursing assistants, home health aides, companions and homemakers for services in the patient's home. Nurse registries also provide temporary staff for nursing homes, hospitals and other businesses. Each individual health care worker is an independent contractor and is not a direct employee of the nurse registry. Nurse registries are licensed and surveyed by the State of Florida.

How to Use Florida Health Finder

To see a current list of licensed providers, visit www.floridahealthfinder.gov. Go to the "locate" option, then select "facilities or providers." This database is searchable by service type and county. A list of all the licensed facilities will be generated. Under "type," it will list the facilities that are certified to accept "Medicare" and/or "Medicaid" patients.

Active Aging Resources

Senior Centers

Every day, over one million older adults get connected at their local senior centers. The activities and programs at each senior center vary from exercise to card games to cooking classes and more. Senior centers are usually run by a local government; however, you can typically attend any senior center regardless of where you live. Many activities are free, although some activities may have a nominal fee. Call each center for more information about the programming at that particular center.

Volunteer Opportunities and Employment Training Opportunities

There are a wide variety of volunteer opportunities available in Central Florida. Most of the nonprofit agencies listed in this document and in the community welcome new volunteers. Volunteer opportunities can range from an ongoing commitment, periodically, or helping out at a single event. Just ask!

The information and referral agencies on page 3 can also connect you to additional volunteer opportunities and link you to employment training and resources.

TIPS

- Experience is not always required to volunteer with an organization. Your time and enthusiasm are often all you need to get started.
- There are several websites dedicated to matching volunteers with local opportunities – just do a search on the web.
- Feel free to ask to speak with other volunteers to learn more.

Active Aging Resources

Continued Learning Opportunities

Research has shown that keeping your mind and body engaged is important to maintaining a healthy brain. Whether it is a hobby, volunteering, reading or a hands-on activity—staying active is important to healthy aging. Central Florida also has several programs that provide classroom learning experiences.

TIPS

- For brain health tips, consider contacting the Alzheimer’s Association at 800-272-3900 or the Alzheimer’s and Dementia Resource Center at 407-843-1910.
- Senior centers are another great resource for brain healthy activities and continued learning.
- Libraries are a great resource for computer training classes or educational seminars, including the Counsel for Caregivers Seminars, offered by the Orange County Commission on Aging.

Important Healthcare Dates

REMEMBER!

Always check with your health care provider or care/case manager for verification of these important dates.

Medicare

- October - Medicare Advantage and Part D Prescription Drug plans release with new premium and benefit information for the coming year in the month of October. It is important to review plan benefits every year since these benefits may change as of January 1. Changes may include premium and/or co-pay increases, medication coverage changes, in-network physicians or facility changes and/or changes to ancillary benefits not required by Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS).
- October 15 - Medicare Open Enrollment Period (OEP) begins. Medicare Advantage and Part D Prescription Drug plans begin accepting applications for the upcoming plan year.
- December 7 - Medicare Open Enrollment Period officially ends. The last day Medicare Advantage and Part D Prescription Drug plans are able to accept applications for the coming plan year.
- January 1 - Medicare Advantage and Part D Prescription Drug plans become effective for the new plan year.
- January 1 to February 14 - This is the Annual Disenrollment Period (ADP) – a time when Medicare Advantage plans may be dropped and the policyholder may return only to Original Medicare. Part D Prescription Drug plans may be purchased if a drug plan was originally part of the Medicare Advantage plan.

Medicaid –Dual Eligibles

The “change period” for Medicaid recipients is based on their original enrollment into the Medicaid program. Enrollees will receive notice in advance of their change period. Questions regarding these dates should be directed to their Enrollment Broker or by calling the Elder Helpline operated by the Senior Resource Alliance at 407-514-1800.

Marketplace Health Insurance

- November 1, 2017 – Open enrollment for 2018 plans begins
- December 15, 2017 – Open enrollment for 2018 plans ends
- December 31, 2017 – Coverage ends for 2017 Marketplace plans
- January 1, 2018 – Open enrollment begins for 2018 plans

Orange County Government Resources

The Commission on Aging is an Orange County advisory board dedicated to creating an elder-friendly community. The Commission on Aging produces educational documents to help local elders and their families connect with local resources and outreach opportunities. This Community Resources for Elders document was produced by the Commission on Aging. Several other documents are produced and can be found on the web at www.ocfl.net/seniors.

- COA e-Newsletter provides a monthly snapshot of new programs and major events in Central Florida, emerging research and reports released nationally and interesting articles in the media.
- Fraud Prevention Resource Guide helps readers protect themselves from scams, fraud and deceptive practices – before fraud occurs. It also contains information on local, state and national resources that are available to individuals who suspect fraud has occurred.
- LIFE Information for Elders is a monthly seminar series where organizations present information and resources on different aging topics
- Staying Active in Orange County Brochure provides a snapshot of the actives and programs offered in the nine senior centers located in the Orange County geographic area, including centers maintained by different municipalities.
- Senior sensitivity training is offered to community groups and local businesses. This 90-minute “hands-on” class enables attendees to experience the visual, audio, and movement challenges that may occur as one ages.

Guardianship (Florida Courts)

Adult guardianship is the process by which the court finds an individual's ability to make decisions so impaired that the court gives the right to make decisions to another person. Guardianship is only warranted when no less restrictive alternative – such as durable power of attorney, trust, health care surrogate or proxy, or other form of pre-need directive – is found by the court to be appropriate and available. For Orange and Osceola counties, contact the Ninth Judicial Circuit Court at 407-836-6058. For Seminole County, contact the Eighteenth Judicial Circuit Court at 407-665-4330.

The Office of Public and Professional Guardians within the Florida Department of Elder Affairs is responsible for the registers and disciplines professional guardians in Florida. Contact 850-414-2381.
