

COURT PROCESS COMMITTEE

Members: Honorable Alicia Latimore (Chair) | Honorable Donald Myers | Honorable Tiffany Moore Russell | Honorable Robert Wesley | Chief Louis Quinones | Jay Corzine, Ph.D.

Recommendation No. 1: Establish a domestic violence orientation office as a centralized location to offer information, assistance, and wrap-around services to victims of domestic violence.

Context/Justification: Many victims have difficulty navigating the court system because they do not understand the legal process and face legal barriers at several stages. At all points of their court case, victims need peer assistance and support as they seek protection and independence from their abuser. Victims need a central office that would operate as a one-stop shop to obtain the various services they need throughout the process.

Action Step(s):

- Educate victims on the court process for civil and criminal domestic violence cases.
- Offer court forms and informational materials in multiple languages to include English, Spanish, Creole, and Portuguese.
- Provide a document defining frequently used terms.
- Provide interpreting services to assist with communications and completion of court paperwork.
- Provide peer assistants or case managers to assist victims in navigating the court process from beginning to end.
- Offer resources and support such as counseling, emotional support, financial assistance, housing assistance, victim compensation, and make referrals for additional resources offered by community partners.
- Offer trauma-focused evidence-based services for child survivors.
- Identify a community partner who may assist in providing a hotline service to make programs under the orientation office more robust and more accessible, especially during non-business hours and weekends.
- Offer a mobile unit to be deployed into communities to offer information, resources, and assistance to victims who lack transportation to get to the central location/hub.

Recommendation No. 2: Implement a process that allows electronic transmission and receipt of injunction paperwork by the Sheriff’s Office for civil process service.

Context/Justification: There is a significant delay in serving respondents with civil injunctions due to the Sheriff’s Office’s inability to receive the process for service electronically. Currently, the Clerk of Court uses a courier to deliver injunction paperwork to the civil process office for service twice per day. This leads to a delay in the service of the process on the abuser, which potentially could expose the victim to an extended period of risk.

Action Step(s):

- Form a workgroup of criminal justice partners and related stakeholders to develop and implement a process that would allow electronic transmission and receipt of injunctions.
- Research and review how other jurisdictions have successfully implemented similar technologies.

Community Stakeholders:

Recommendation No. 3: Allow agencies and court systems to share information that will assist in locating an abuser whose whereabouts are unknown to perfect service or apprehension.

Context/Justification: There are significant gaps in the sharing of pertinent information between agencies within court systems, which allows abusers to go undetected. However, individuals may be involved in the court or law enforcement systems. It is important that the systems can share certain information with the court that would assist in locating a respondent whose whereabouts are unknown.

Action Step(s):

- Perform CLEAR and VINE checks on a regular basis to ascertain a correct address to serve the respondent if whereabouts are unknown.
- Establish a technical working group of subject matter experts and system administrators to identify available databases and data sets that identify respondent’s location information.
- Develop and adopt an Interagency Data Sharing Agreement in order for pertinent agencies and court systems to serve or apprehend respondents in a more efficient and expeditious manner.

Recommendation No. 4: Establish an e-portal with the Clerk’s office to receive returns of service.

Context/Justification: Court proceedings are often continued due to untimely or no receipt of proof of service, particularly from out-of-county jurisdictions. This contributes to a waste of resources and the missed or untimely disposition of judicial proceedings.

Action Step(s):
